- Whereas The accumulation of medical knowledge has become large and is ever increasing, and
- Whereas the evolution of methods of treatment has proceeded primarily along the lines of medical treatment on the one hand and surgical treatment on the other hand, and in the expanding surgical fields more or less specialization in practice has evolved and this has proceeded along anatomical lines, and
- Whereas recent developments in therapy justify a special consideration of pelvic surgery as a whole, apart from consideration of pelvic structures individually,
- Be it Resolved that there is justification for a Society devoted to the subject of Pelvic Surgery.
